Dear Prof. Davankov:

We think you are going well with everything. As you know, the International Symposium on Chirality, ISCD-15, will be held in Shizuoka, Japan in the coming October. On that occasion, we would like to invite you to the following party.

In the meantime, the 77 years birthday of Prof. Shoji Hara will come soon; in Japan, the 77 th birthday is a rather special one and is called "KIJU" in Japanese, which means the cerebation of long and happy life. Time flies very fast ! To cerebrate this special event, we are planning the party, to which we would like to invite you and your wife.

The party is tentatively scheduled before ISCD-15 as shown below:

On 18 th October (Sat), morning: we will meet you at the Hakozaki City Air Terminal in Tokyo: about one hour from the Narita Airport by the airport limousine bus. Or a hotel in Tokyo may be a meeting place, if it is more convenient.

In the afternoon, we will visit the home of Prof. Hara in Shiki, Saitama; ca. one hour from the Hakozaki City Air Terminal by trains. The party will be held in his house, which was built ca. 90 years ago and was very recently registered as the historically important cultural architecture by the Japanese government. A photo is attached with this mail.

In the evening, we will return to Tokyo, and all members are invited to the diiner. The hotel rooms for your stay of that night will be reserved.

On 19 October (Sun), morning, we will take a Shinkansen train for Shizuoka from the Tokyo central station, and in the afternoon you may participate to the pre-symposium, "Molecular Chirality" and also confirm your registration of ISCD-15.

The expenses for the "KIJU" party including hotel accommodation will be covered by us except tickets of Shinkansen train for Shizuoka.
